This issue begins our 20th year of serving as the genealogical and historical society representing most of the Central West Virginia area, i.e., the Hacker's Creek watershed and surrounding areas of producing what is recognized as one of the finest genealogical quarterlies published in West Virginia and maybe even in the United States. Are we proud of it? You bet we are!

The memories bombard me as I look back. Betty GRAYBILL and I having a cup of coffee in a home on Canton, Ohio, and deciding that if we were looking for our roots, others must be too! Asking May WHITE and the late Franklin WALTERS to join us in organizing our first gathering in October 1982! Genealogy fairs and conferences in several counties in our beloved West Virginia and others in lowa and Ohio and Pennsylvania and Virginia! Sleep-overs and lock-ins where we research through the darkest wee hours of the night! Cemetery work days and clearing brush that is way, way over our heads! Sing-alongs with Bill HAYES playing his chink-a-chink on the piano at Jackson's Mill! The HACKERS and BARTLETTS warbling during church services at Law Chapel! Bob SMITH and Maurice ALLMAN and Bill WAGGONER exploring the waters of Hacker's Creek looking for lost monuments and special places. Chuck GILCHRIST playing Solitaire on the library computers! Phil STACKHOUSE and Chuck MONEYPENNY and Tom WHITE and all those other first-comers to HCPD-L, our online discussion group back in 1995! Bud ALLMAN, Bill SMITH, etc., moving our library from Ohio to West Virginia back in 1987! The crowded research area in our first West Virginia library home and our eventual restoration of and move to the Weston Colored School back in 1991! Our continued growth and move to Jackson's Mill Road in the mid 1990s and then our continued expansion and removal to our present home in the old Horner School! The continued dedication of long-time members like Irma CURTIS, Barbara MCCARTY, Charles WHITE, Raydine TEICHEIRA, Patricia and Sharon VIELLENAVE, Sara PYLE, Maurice and Bertha ALLMAN, Dennis RODGERS, Raymond WOLFE, Nancy JACKSON, David ARMSTRONG, Eva NEWLON, Bette BUTCHER TOPPE, Charlie HECKERT, Linda BRAKE MEYERS. . . The passing of some of our hard-working volunteers like Bob SMITH, Chuck GILCHRIST, Elaine STALNAKER. Anna Grace DEHAVEN. Mary Lee SMITH, Jeanne ALLMAN. . . The energy of folks like Raymond and Bonnie WARE and Charlotte FLEMING and Robin LIGHT and Mabel TINNEY! Old friends! New friends! And cousins galore!

Am I guilty of faux pas by mentioning some names and not others? Friends, as I write this hundreds of faces and thousands of stories cross my mind. Each is special and holds some little part of my heart. I am sure that each of you has the same experience, whether you are a charter member or whether you have been a member only a short time. . . or at least I hope you do. We hope that all of you continue to be active in HCPD and that each of you is successful in finding that long-sought-after ancestor, whether he be hiding in some little valley in the hills of West Virginia or shouting from the mountaintops of the mighty Alleghenies!

As we begin this new year, your officers, board of directors, and I want to thank all of you. Without YOU, your words of encouragement and your financial support, we would not be sitting on the brink of our third decade. Here's hoping HCPD continues to impact the genealogy world of West Virginia with continued growth and vigor for many more years!

We look forward to seeing many of you at our 21st Annual Gathering - our 20th Anniversary - August 8-11, 2002.

Bye for now

THE FICTIONAL GENEALOGIST

It has been nearly a year since fictional genealogist Barbara passed away. Her daughter Charlene reflects upon that year in a letter to her friend Karen. Charlene truly has been busy. Barbara is probably rolling over in her grave.

Here is Charlene's letter:

As usual, my cards are late. It has been a busy year.

We spent much of the year settling up Mother's estate. The house sold well, but cleaning it took longer than we expected.

You are probably the only person who did not know Mother was a aenealogy buff. She told practically every human she encountered. I'm convinced that genealogy "nut" was the most accurate phrase. The stuff was all over the house. inheritance would have been enough to pay for my new Mercedes had she not insisted on spending money on that blasted hobby. I don't know why she couldn't be more like Tom's mother. Nadine spends her day doing needlepoint and watching reruns of 50s television shows. Tom just does not realize how lucky he is, but men never do. My mother had to run off to cemeteries and Court houses. She even went to a conference in Davenport, lowa, last year! Can you imagine? Davenport, lowa! After she got back, she was so excited about all that she had learned and all the fun she had. She was planning on going to another one in California this year. Well the arim reaper took care of that.

Because of my promotion to head of knick knack sales at aarbaaeforless.com, I had not been home for several years. I was appalled to learn that Mother had converted my old bedroom into her family history "headquarters." My shelves of Teen Beat and other magazines documenting my adolescence had been replaced with old family photographs, copies of old documents, and something called family group sheets. She even got rid of the pants I wore to my first junior high dance. I cried at the thought.

I could not bear to go in the room and be reminded that my childhood had been stripped from me and replaced with an obsession with the past. I told the children that if they would clean the room and prepare the items for the garage (should I say "garbage"?) sale they could have the proceeds. I learned what true entrepreneurs they are.

Kenny stripped Mother's hard drive in under ten minutes. I kept hearing him say "GedCom is GedGone..." I have no idea what it meant, but the computer fetched a good price. Before he unplugged the computer, he erased all Mom's floppy disks and downloaded public domain games. He sold these at a nominal price.

Susan took the old photographs to a flea market and was able to sell many of them. Some special labels had to be taken off and we had to take them out of protective envelopes. Mother had written the names on the back of many of them. At least none of those pictures of depressing old dead people had our last name written on them. I don't want to be associated with such sour people.

Mother had some type of old plat book -- whatever that is. Kenny tore out the pages individually and sold them separately on Ebay. It was so clever. His dad said he got much more than if he had left the book in one piece.

Susan didn't tear the bibles apart though. I thought that showed tremendously good sense. She's learning that not everything can be marketed in the same way. The 1790 bible brought her a good penny, but she couldn't get the one from 1900 to bring more than fifty cents. She donated it to a local church, and here is where I am so proud of her. We can write if off as a charitable deduction. Someone had written what they had paid for the bible on the back cover. Susan converted that to 2001 dollars and will use that for our tax deduction amount. I've already enrolled Susan in tax lawyer summer camp this comina August.

There was some old large certificate of written on heavy paper. The silly thing wasn't even in English, so why would Mother keep it? Kenny used the other side to keep track of the things he had sold. Waste not, want not. When we were finished we put the paper in the recycling bin.

The kids put an old wedding dress from the 1870s in the washer to get the stains out. It was terribly filthy. The worthless thing didn't even survive the extra long cycle and the half-gallon of bleach. It's doubtful we can even use it for cleaning rags.

The dress was in some kind of old trunk. I'm not certain what it was for, but it had a name stenciled on the front in huge letters along with the name of a town. Susan gave it a good coating of red paint and sold it as a toy box.

The filing cabinets were emptied of their contents, as were the three shelves of binders. Kenny got the bright idea to shred the paper and sell it in bags as New Year's confetti. The file folders were too heavy to shred.

The baby did not react well to any of this. She cried and fussed almost the entire time. Kenny thought she wanted tea, which made no sense to me at all. As she cried, it sounded like she was saying "family tee." She can't even talk yet and I think Kenny was hearing things. The baby does look exactly like my mother though, it's the oddest thing. The fussing didn't stop until she spit up an entire bottle of strained prunes on my junior high jeans, which we did find in the basement. They were ruined --- it was the one real loss. Now my past has really been taken from me --- magazines and all.

Charlene

Whether you have a child like Charlene or not, have you thought about what might happen to your genealogy collection upon your demise?

Edwin MAXWELL

HON. Edwin MAXWELL. One of West Virginia's most gifted native sons was the late Hon. Edwin MAXWELL, who as lawyer, judge and legislator impressed his abilities on the early state government and a wide range of important affairs for a period of half a century. His home for many year was at Clarksburg, a community that cherishes his memory and in which his son Haymond has attained most marked distinction as a lawyer and judge.

Edwin MAXWELL was born at Weston, Lewis County, July 16, 1825, son of Levi and Mary (RAYMOND) MAXWELL. His father was a successful farmer of Lewis County. His mother was a daughter of Colonel John RAYMOND, of West Virginia. Edwin MAXWELL was the oldest of four children, the others being Rufus, John and Mary Jane.

While a youth on his father's farm his associations with nature and practical work gave him lessons invaluable in later years. From an early age he showed an Independence and Initiative that enabled him to rise above circumstances of a very modest education and achieve his own opportunities for greatness. He never had the advantages of training, but the love of books and knowledge was innate. With exceptional natural qualifications for the law he began to study under his uncle, Lewis MAXWELL, and in 1848, at the age of twenty-three, was admitted to the bar. Five years later in 1852, he located at West Union in Doddridge County, and subsequently served that county two terms as prosecuting attorney. At the beginning of the Civil war he espoused the Union cause, and in 1863 was elected on the Union ticket to the first State Senate of West Virginia. He was one of the very resourceful and able leaders in that party until after the close of the war. In 1866 Governor BOREMAN appointed him Attorney General of the state. In the fall of 1866 he was elected judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals, and he was with this court until December 31, 1872, and in that time many cases of great importance involving the interpretation of the early statute of the state came before him for decision. In 1880 Judge MAXWELL was the Republican candidate for judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals, and in 1884 was candidate of the republican and greenback parties for governor.

In that campaign he was referred to as "Old Honesty." In 1888 he was elected to the State Senate and in 1892 to the House of Delegates. His last political honor came in 1902, when he was in his seventy-eighth year. He was elected a member of the House of Delegates, and while at his post of duty at Charleston he contracted pneumonia and died February 5, 1903. A period of forty years had intervened from his first service in the Leaislature of West Virainia and his last leaislative service. He imparted his wisdom in legislative ability to the making of some of the soundest laws of the state. For fifty-four years he ranked as one of the foremost lawyers of the state, and his associates have repeatedly testified to his comprehensive knowledge of the law, and, above all, to the dignity and depth of his character. In 1872 Edwin MAXWELL married Loretta SHUTTLEWORTH. who died in 1905. Her father, Colonel John SHUTTLEWORTH, was one of the prominent citizens of West Virginia. The two sons of Edwin MAXWELL and wife were Edwin MAXWELL, Jr., and Haymond MAXWELL. Judge Haymond MAXWELL, son of Edwin and Loretta (SHUTTLEWORTH) MAXWELL, had the prestige of his father as an example and since completing a liberal education has rapidly achieved honors both in his practice as a lawyer and on the bench. He was born at Clarksburg, October 24, 1879, was educated in the public schools, completed his literary education in West Virginia University in 1900, and received his law degree from the same source in 1901. He immediately began practice at Clarksburg, and in 1905 was elected on the republican ticket to the House of Delegates. May 7, 1909, eight years after he entered practice he was appointed judge of the Criminal Court of Harrison County serving until December 31, 1912. In 1912 he was nominated and elected judge of the Circuit Court for the district comprising Harrison and Lewis counties and at the close of his first term of eight years he was reelected, in 1920.

Judge MAXWELL in 1905 married Miss Carrie Virginia MAXWELL, daughter of Porter and Columbia (POST) MAXWELL, of Harrison County. Their five children are: Edwin Haymond, Jr., Carrie Virginia, Emily Frances and Porter Wilson MAXWELL.

St. Patrick's Pills give entire satisfaction. I have used them in my family. They are the best I ever used for the purpose.- Frank Cornelious, Purcell, Indian Ter. For sale by J.H. Bare, Druggist.

Personal Reminiscences of the Civil War

by Capt. David POE Buckhannon, Upshur County, W. Va.

Two days after my arrival in camp, General ReviceDS, who was camped on Cheat Mountain where the Staunton and Parkersburg pike crosses, came down to Greenbrier River with his army of from six to ten thousand soldiers, and made an attack upon our position. General Ed. JOHNSON commanded our forces. He sent a strong skirmish line out about a mile to escort the Federal general and his men up to our camp. REYNOLD'S men had to use artillery to get our boys to fall back. My brother Solomon was one of the skirmish line. A shell from the enemy passed so near his hand that the concussion knocked him down. Some of the boys thought he was killed and so reported to us, but he got up and ran into the river. This caused him to regain consciousness and he crossed to the opposite side and made his escape. His condition was such that he was sent to the hospital at Staunton where he remained nearly three months, returning a

It happened that morning that Major HANSBROUGH, who commanded our battalion, was away on furlough. Capt. ROBINSON was the senior captain, giving him command of the battalion, leaving me in command of the company. Up to this time from May to October, we had always retreated before the enemy. My salutation on taking command was "no retreating today, boys." I was ordered to take my men and support a six-pound cannon manned by a section of the Lynchburg battery. The enemy soon opened fire on our piece with three or four larger pieces from Burner's Orchard. The Lynchburg boys could not stand the fire and fled, but my company stood right to their post. Adjutant C. S. MORGAN, of our battalion, who had a military education, and had been drilling some of the boys in my company in artillery tactics, came to me and asked for men enough to man the abandoned piece of artillery. I told him that I would not order them to do so, as it was out of their line, but if any of them would volunteer to go, I would allow them to do so. Morgan told them that he would play gunner, and nine of them arose, stacked their guns, pulled off their coats and hats, stepped up to the cannon and proceeded to load and fire, which changed things in a very short time. After the Lynchburg boys were driven from their piece, the enemy was fixing to change their guns to another place, but when Morgan sent the first ball in among them there was quite a consternation among the men and horses. In a very short time a caisson was blown to pieces, one piece dismounted, several horses were killed. The enemy got some of their pieces in position and opened upon the rifle piece, the second time tearing up the ground around MORGAN and his new men. After quite a while of that kind of exercise the enemy artillery retired behind the hill where things were more congenial. While the artillery thus got out of range, some part of the Federal army was exposed to that rifle piece all day. MORGAN and his men kept their gun hot until the enemy had retreated two miles across the valley. While the fight was going on, Jack LUZADER, of my company, picked up a bucket or two and went down a draft to get water. Around the spring grew a heavy clump of pine trees. About the time he reached there the shot and shell came into that pine grove, cutting the trees off toward the top so that they came down all around the spring. Jack came back with about one quart of water, and that full of pine bark. "Where is your water, Jack?" the boys said to him. He replied, "I do not like it. If you want water go after it."

The company camp-ground was near by, and the bursting shells set fire to some of the tents and consumed them and their contents. Toward evening the Federal officers tried to get their men to charge across the river to the fortifications, to where the Twelfth Georgia and the Thirty-first Virginia Infantry were located. They refused, and were offered double wages. All this was heard by our men, and one of the Georgians called over to them, "If you-uns 'Il come over we-uns 'Il give you'uns more 'n that." Neither offer was accepted. During this fight a shell from the enemy's guns struck the embankment of the ditch where Company I of the Thirty-first Virginia Infantry were lying, almost covering Colonel Wm. L. JACKSON with dirt, ploughed up the bank on the opposite side of the ditch, rolling back and striking John SPORE on the head knocking him down. Without a moment's hesitation, Joe REDUSKY, a German from Lewis County, seized the shell and threw it over the embankment, saying, "Sure an' he bust in here."

Toward evening, General REYNOLDS changed his tactics, retraced his steps to the top of Cheat Mountain and went into winter quarters, apparently satisfied to let us alone.

While the army was at this place, Camp Barto, on the Greenbrier River, F. V. POE, a member of the Letcher Guards was on picket. Some of the boys, during the night, flanked the pickets and got after a flock of sheep that were in posture, and chased them down through the woods near where POE was on duty. He fired an alarm, and when the officer of the day galloped out and asked him what was the matter, he had learned it was sheep and not men, and replied, "No flock of sheep can run over me, nor bite me either."

In September, Alexander POE took fever and died and was buried on the hill near where we were during the fight just described. After the war closed his body was taken up and brought back to Taylor County.

DODRIDGE COUNTY CEMETERIES, VOLUME 4, (West Virginia) has been completed. This volume is available for $21.00 post paid.

Doddridge County was formed 4 February 1845 from the Virginia Counties of Harrison, Tyler, Ritchie, and Lewis. West Virginia became a state on 20 June 1863. This volume contains information on 85 people who died before West Virginia became a state, and 9 of them died before the formation of Doddridge County.

The volume contains the readings of 23 cemeteries plus the names and information on 33 Doddridge County soldiers who were buried in National cemeteries. Volume 4 contains about 1,828 burials.

This book has very detailed instructions for finding these cemeteries. Each cemetery listed includes a description, condition and additional information on its background and upkeep.

Additional information has been added to make each entry complete with a full name, birth, and death date when this information is available in Doddridge County records. Military information on the marker has been transcribed and additional military information added when the information was available. Any added information is clearly identified as added. This volume has been cross referenced with the 1933 WPA reading if the WPA read the cemetery.

Volume 4 has 120 pages, plus the forward. The volume is 8 ½ x 11 in loose spiral binding. Markers were read in order, and a complete index is included.

Doddridge County Cemeteries Volume 1-3 have been revised and updated and are available for $21.00 per copy.

8. Looking for the parents of William CRITES. He was born about 1822/23 in Hardy County. He was twice married. His first wife was Rachel LEE (?), daughter of Andrew and Mary LEE of Washington Co., Oh. She was born in Washington Co., OH. about 1827 and died in Barbour Co., WV on 21 Sept 1873. Rachel and William had 7 children, one un-named infant, having been born in Ohio, died at about one month of age on 14 February 1854. William and Rachel are listed on the Washington Co., OH census for 1850 with one child, John, age 2yrs. William was a tenant farmer and it seems that they moved often and their family grew. The 1860 census lists them in Barbour County, the 1870 in Upshur County, and 1880 back in Barbour County. The remaining children of this marriage, as nearly as can be determined, were: John, Dickenson, Charles E., Alvin, Dora, and Idel Mae. (I know little of them) Shortly after the death of Rachel, William married Jane ADAMS, on 11 Nov 1873, daughter of David & Nancy ADAMS. (I have no information on them either). Jane and William had four children: Rilda Francis, Hiram Joseph, Isaac, and Lene Jane. Hiram was my Grandfather. He married Eva L. HARVEY, daughter of Elam HARVEY and I'm not sure of her mothers name, but believe it to be Mahala SIMON. Any information or leads on any of this family will be greatly appreciated.

OHIO COUNTY (WV) INDEX. VOL. 9 ~ A GREAT GROUP OF RECORDS!

Card Index to all Ohio County Courts' Case Files & Loose Paper, Part 2, 1826-1836 by Ken Craft. Volume 9 continues the series by continuing to publish an exciting group of Ohio County, VA/WV Records – the "Card Index to Ohio Co. Courts' original case files & loose papers" housed at the West Virginia & Regional History Collection at WVU. During the 1930's a massive project was undertaken to collect and {partially} index all the surviving Ohio Co., VA/WV court case files & loose papers [about 500,000 items] from every court; County, Circuit, Superior, Circuit Superior, ect. From 1776-1930! An index card was made for document showing the plaintiff & a brief description of what documents were included in the envelope. These cards have been entered into a database and are being published for the first time ever in this series! Volume 9 covers the period 1826-1836.

What's in these records? Just about anything – whatever survived! By covering all courts, we find an index to criminal cases; Chancery court cases & files dealing with disputes over estates; more names involved in "Road Orders', Grand Juries, Witnesses, wolf scalp payments, militia officers and war service; a few Land Grants, and Naturalizations, etc. What documents did your ancestor leave behind? Earlier volumes of the series still available, including v. 7C – the cumulative index to vols. 1-7 with 110,000 names! Heritage Books: www.heritagebooks.com

Vol. 9 has a unique "Personal Time Line" Index whereby every name, place or stream is sorted by year – with reference to the original card information. There are over 37,000 names in the index! 625 pages (including index) 2002, index, paper, Book #C709. Pre-pub price $52.80 + $5.00 standard shipping, before 04/30/02; $66.00 after that. Order from: Heritage Books, 1540-E Pointer Ridge Place #3011; Bowie, MD 20716 or phone order (800) 398-7709.

From 1867-1980 Most sailing ships used Steam auxiliary engines on days when there was little or no wind. However, many sailing ships remained in service and their fares were often lower than the faster steam ships. In 1893, a steamship made its trip from Ireland to new York in only 10 days. JOHN WOLF STORY Part II

1. John Wolf of Hackers Creek (Harrison County)

As discussed in some detail in Appendix 2, only two John WOLFs appeared on the PPTLs of Harrison Co. during 1798-1803, and they are fairly easily distinguishable. The elder John WOLF appears to have been roughly a generation older than the younger, and to have lived in the Elk Creek section of Harrison County, near and to the southeast of the county seat of Clarksburg. Beginning in 1790, John Wolf the elder and Jacob WOLF, Sr. of Hackers Creek (to the south of the Elk Creek area, and now in Lewis County), consistently appear on different tax lists, and John WOLF the younger pops up on the same list as Jacob WOLF in the late 1790s. Specifically, the younger John WOLF appeared on the PPTL for the first time either in 1795 (although conceivably this could have been the older Elk Creek John WOLF—see Appendix 2, item 6) when he was 18 or 19, or in 1798 when he was 21 or 22 (depending on the exact date on which his name was recorded in the PPTL).

From his marriage bonds (to Mary MCCALLY) it is absolutely clear that this younger John WOLF was the son of Jacob WOLF (see Appendix 3), and according to the PPTLs there was only one adult Jacob WOLF in Harrison County in the 1790s, and this had to have been Jacob WOLF, Sr. of Hackers Creek. (In 1800, a second Jacob WOLF appeared on the PPTL for the first time, which was evidently Jacob's second son, Jacob, Jr., who probably turned 21 about 1799/1800.¹³ In 1800 he married Mary WAGGONER,¹⁴ a Hackers Creek neighbor who was taken captive by the Indians in 1792, when part of the rest of her family was massacred, and she was released in 1795 at the time of the Treaty of Greenville).¹⁵ John WOLF was married to Mary MCCALLY on March 13, 1798, by the Rev. George TOWERS, the Presbyterian minister in Clarksburg (Appendix 4).

On August 2, 1798, "John WOLF Junior." [read: the younger] purchased from Benjamin [SIMS] and Nancy his wife 240 acres on "the waters of Bens Run a drain of Hackers Creek" (Appendix 5). Accordingly, young John WOLF appeared on the land tax list—for 240 acres—in 1799, but only for one year, since on June 18, 1799 he and his wife Mary sold this land to Peter HERDMAN [HARDMAN] Jr. (Appendix 6). It is quite possible that throughout his period as an adult in Harrison County, John WOLF and his young family lived with his father, Jacob WOLF and his family, although there is no way of ascertaining this.

On July 19, 1802, John WOLF bought 100 acres on Hackers Creek from George ARNOLD—a local surveyor and land speculator it would seem—and his wife Elizabeth (Appendix 7). This was probably after the land tax assessment was made for 1802, but curiously, in 1803, the 100 acres attributed to John WOLF were crossed off the land tax assessment by the tax commissioner, and thereafter no land of any kind in Harrison County is attributed to this John WOLF.¹⁶ The conveyance of this land, on "Herring Run a branch of hacker [sic] Creek adjoining Land of Jacob WOLF and Land surveyed for John SLEETH, Jr.," was recorded the same day John's father Jacob had recorded the 40 acres (the adjoining land) he had bought from George and Elizabeth ARNOLD.¹⁷ (It is also curious that after being attributed to Jacob WOLF on the land tax book for 1803, from 1804 to 1809 this land was attributed on the land tax book to David WOLF (more on him in the forthcoming report on Jacob WOLF), possibly simply by mistake of the tax collector. From 1810 on, however, it is once again included in the land holdings attributed to Jacob WOLF.)

The year 1802 is also the last year in which young John WOLF appeared on the PPTL of Harrison County. This is strange as well, since it would not appear that he and his family left that county (or Virginia, for that matter) before 1806 at the earliest (see below). I could not locate him in Virginia counties to the west of Harrison Co. after 1802,18 and his wife continued to give birth to children in Virginia at least through the end of 1805.

That John WOLF and family still lived in Harrison Co. as late as 1806 is suggested by the fact that he and wife Mary did not record the sale of the 100 acres on Hackers Creek (purchased in 1802) until February 17, 1806, to one William MAULSBY. (The purchaser, MAULSBY, sold this land two months later, on April 22, 1806 to one Jacob COON,19 who began paying taxes on what appears to have been this property, in 1807.20) That John and Mary were physically present at the time the deed was recorded (February court of 1806, Harrison Co.) is suggested by the customary inclusion at the end of the deed that Mary had been privately examined and consented to the sale (see Appendix 8).

This writer remains puzzled as to why John WOLF the younger fell off the Harrison Co. PPTLs and Land Tax Books after 1802 (although it should be noted that all other Hackers Creek area Wolfs (of which there were five on the 1802 PPTL) disappeared from the PPTL in the year 1803 except Jacob WOLF, Jr., but then all save John reemerged in 1804 and 1805). As noted earlier, it is improbable that the Wolfs had left Virginia prior to 1806, and they could not be located on the PPTLs in another Virginia county between Harrison Co. and the state of Ohio.²¹ (One possibility is that John WOLF went out to Ohio several years before his family to physically stake his claim, and returned to pick them up in, say, 1806. This is apparently what neighbor Peter HARDMAN, Jr. did, according to family tradition.^{21a} Mary WOLF bore two more children in Virginia in the period 1803-05, however, so if this is what happened, John WOLF must have made several trips back and forth between Ohio and northwestern Virginia during this period.)

That there may have been some problem with the title or payment for the 100 acres John WOLF purchased from George ARNOLD on Hacker's Creek in 1802 is suggested by a set of concurrent county chancery court cases during the period December 1801-October 1806. Unfortunately, I have been unable to locate the originals or copies of the court papers which would indicate the substance of these civil cases,²² but rather have only been able, by means of the Harrison Co. Court Minute Book for that period, to trace the process of the cases over time.²³

In effect, parallel suits were brought. On the one hand, Peter DEVERMAN (who may have been a local land speculator and/or lender) brought suit as early as December 22, 1801 against John and Jacob WOLF and won a judgment at that time against them for $20 plus interest accrued since September 1799 plus costs. At the same time, however, the defendants asked the court for an injunction against DEVERMAN and George ARNOLD who, it will be recalled, had sold the 100 acres to John WOLF and the 40 acres to Jacob WOLF (recorded in July 1802, but of course the taking of possession might have occurred earlier, as was often the case). These suits were brought to court again several times in 1802, and in February 1803 John MCCALLY, John WOLF's father-in-law, was added as a co-defendant in the DEVERMAN petition, and George ARNOLD began to appear as a co-plaintiff with DEVERMAN.

By 1806, DEVERMAN had died, and in September 1806 the following suits were brought into court: (i) William ARMSTRONG and Hannah his [DEVERMAN's] wife for the Estate of Peter DEVERMAN vs. John WOLF and Jacob WOLF; (ii) the same plaintiffs vs. the same defendants plus John MCCALLY; and (iii) the same plaintiffs plus George ARNOLD vs. John and Jacob WOLF. It would appear that by October 25, 1806, final judgment was awarded in favor of the plaintiffs, and the court ordered that the "plaintiffs recover their costs in this behalf expended—abated as to John WOLF & John MCCALLY."²⁴

Whatever these suits were about, the fact that by late 1806, when apparently final judgment was rendered, the recovery of plaintiffs' costs were "abated" (presumably meaning "excused") for John WOLF and John MCCALLY, may simply reflect the fact that by that time both had left the county (the documentary evidence for this for John MCCALLY is discussed in the companion report on him and Nicholas CARPENTER). While we cannot pinpoint the date when John WOLF and his family might have moved away, it was almost certainly before 1810, for he does not appear in that year's census for Harrison County. The only John Wolf household on that census had a head of household over the age of 45, and this must have been the aforementioned John WOLF of Elk Creek.

While the search for the substantive issues in these parallel lawsuits proved futile, it accidentally led to the discovery of another chancery court case, which reached the superior court level and lasted eight years, and which provides (i) additional very strong circumstantial evidence that this John and Mary WOLF of Harrison Co., Va., are the same who showed up in Greene Co., Ohio, a few years later, and (ii) conclusive proof that Mary WOLF was a granddaughter of Nicholas CARPENTER. The finding of the circumstantial evidence (see (i)) led me to find additional circumstantial evidence from the Greene Co. Ohio records (see later) which now—taken together with everything else we know—has convinced me beyond any doubt whatsoever about the connection between Hacker's Creek and Greene Co.

This case, which reached the Superior Court of Chancery of Harrison County in October 1814, was known as "SLEETH vs. MCCALLY." Key segments of the case, which takes up 19 pages of the chancery record in a small hand typically running for 40 lines per page and deals—as probably did most civil cases in those days—with a land dispute, are transcribed in Appendix 9. The plaintiffs. David W. SLEETH and his wife, Catharine (CARPENTER) SLEETH, noted that the pioneer trapper, John SIMPSON, who is said to have been living along the West Fork of the Monongahela River in (later) Harrison Co. as early as 176426 and to have been the first settler in the area, had befriended Nicholas CARPENTER, who is said to have settled in that area by 177227. They alleged that in return for various household services that CARPENTER's daughter Catharine had performed as a little girl for SIMPSON, he gave her, in 1779, 400 acres on what—at the time of the lawsuit—was known as Caty's Lick Run (i.e. named after her), a branch of Ten Mile Creek that runs into the West Fork of the Monongahela river just north of Clarksburg. Since she was at that time under age, the suit alleges that SIMPSON bound CARPENTER to obtain a land certificate for this property in her name once a board of commissioners had met to issue such certificates for already settled land. This board met in what later became Harrision Co. in 1781.

The complaint further alleged that "through mistake or design," the board's land certificate "was issued to the said Nicholas as If granted in his own right," and that he shortly thereafter conveyed this land to his "son-in-law John MCCALLY," who proceeded to sell the land and that it had passed through many hands despite it being locally well-known that it was meant to be the property of Catharine CARPENTER. In effect, the SLEETHS asked the court to force the "heirs, devisees and legal representatives" of Nicholas CARPENTER and of John MCCALLY, as well as the later owners with whom they were "confederating together," to yield to them the land claimed by Catharine (CARPENTER) SLEETH and to "account for the rents and profits" earned from that land.

The complaint goes on to list the "heirs, devisees and legal representatives" of Nicholas CARPENTER and John MCCALLY respectively. The heirs of CARPENTER are listed as: (1) Sarah MCCALLY [widow of John]: (2) David CARPENTER, (3) John CARPENTER, (4) Joseph CARPENTER, (5) Christopher CARPENTER, (6) Thomas CARPENTER, (7) Nicholas CARPENTER [nephew of Nicholas deceased] and Mary his wife [daughter of Nicholas deceased], (8) John BROWN and Margaret his wife [daughter of Nicholas deceased], (9) Issac CLEMONS and Elizabeth his wife [daughter of Nicholas deceased], and (10) Thomas POWELL and Nancy his wife [daughter of Nicholas deceased]. (The Harrison Co. historian Henry HAYMOND noted that Nicholas CARPENTER's wife Mary was pregnant with daughter Nancy when he was killed by the Indians on October 4, 1791.)28 The local historian Dorothy DAVIS observed that CARPENTER's daughter Barbara had been axed to death, along with their eight children, by her husband Abel CLEMONS in their Clarksburg cabin in 1805.29 CARPENTER's son. Nicholas, Ir., was presumably the son who was tomahawked along with CARPENTER.30 It is in this way that the eleven CARPENTER children in the suit (the co-plaintiff, Catharine SLEETH, and the ten named CARPENTER heir defendants) can be reconciled with the thirteen children of Nicholas CARPENTER mentioned by WILSON in his study of the CARPENTER family.31

The heirs of John MCCALLY mentioned in the suit are: (11) John MCCALLY "(the son),32" (12) Nicholas MCCALLY, (13) John WOLF and Mary [MCCALLY] his wife, (14) Adam ASH and Jane [MCCALLY] his wife, and (15) Joshua BOZARTH and Elizabeth [MCCALLY] his wife.

Of these fifteen defendants, the court by August 1818 noted that "satisfactory evidence that they were not inhabitants of the Commonwealth" had been provided for eleven (i.e. only David CARPENTER, Joseph CARPENTER, nephew Nicholas CARPENTER (and his wife Mary) and John BROWN (and wife Margaret) still resided in Virginia. By looking back over tax list information acquired by my son Edward and me in March 1997 for Greene Co., Ohio, and additional documentary information provided by the WP, it is evident that eight tithables in that county in the period 1807-15 had names which matched exactly those of the defendants in the Harrison Co., Va., court case. Three of these tithables (John WOLF, Adam Ash and Joshua BOZARTH) lived in Ross Twp. and our John WOLF and Adam Ash and "John" BOZARTH lived practically adjacent to one another on survey entry 816 in the Virginia Military Tract. The other five (John, Christopher and Thomas CARPENTER; and Issac CLEMONS and John Mccally) were recorded as living at various times in Bath Twp. of Greene Co.³³

That eight of the eleven defendants who had departed Virginia by 1818 had namesakes living in Greene Co., Ohio, in the seven years or so leading up to the initiation of the lawsuit in Harrison Co., Va., suggests very strongly that these are one and the same people. Indeed, it is difficult to imagine how this could be due simply to coincidence. Moreover, this evidence must be placed in the perspective of the fact that a number of other Harrison county families had also gravitated to Greene Co., Ohio, in the first decade of the Nineteenth Century, including the documented cases of the COZADS and the HARDMANS (Peter HARDMAN, Jr. of Greene Co. was the same Peter HARDMAN, Jr. who had purchased the first tract of land owned by John WOLF on Hackers Creek^{33a}), and possibly other families with names appearing in both places in sequence, including the CASSADYS, GODFREYS, HARROWS, ROWANS and WATSONS (all living on entry #816 in Ross Twp.) and the SLEETHS (next-door neighbors of John WOLF in Hacker's Creek—see appendices 7 and 8).

A further piece of circumstantial evidence buttressing the notion that young John WOLF of Hacker's Creek was ours comes from the naming practices of our John and Mary WOLF. As noted in the March 1997 trip report, they had seven sons, and all but the sixth, Nicholas--who carried the same first name as one of Mary MCCALLY'S brothers (see the SLEETH vs. MCCALLY case above)--had a first name identical to one of the names of sons of Jacob WOLF of Hackers Creek (John, Jacob, Thomas, Jonathan, David and Andrew). (The other two sons of Jacob WOLF of Hacker's Creek were named James Robert and Abraham. More detail on the family of Jacob WOLF will be given in a forthcoming report on him.)

The clinching evidence, however, is the fact that the Greene County records show that one Adam ASH (recall he lived on the same survey entry as John WOLF in Ross Twp., and that the SLEETH vs. MCCALLY case names as co-defendants Adam ASH and Jane his wife) was married in Greene Co. to Jane "MCCAULEY" on July 31, 1806.34 To my mind, there is no way that this and the other correlations mentioned earlier can be due to coincidence. Consequently, and also given that a comprehensive examination of the PPTLs of Virginia in the 1798-1803 period yielded what to my mind were only two serious contenders for our John WOLF (one of them being he of Harrison County), I conclude that John and Mary WOLF of Harrison Co., Va., in the period 1798-1806, were my third great-grandparents John and Mary WOLF who lived in Greene Co., Ohio, from at least 1812 (and most likely earlier) to the mid-1820s. And thus I conclude that we are the direct descendants of Jacob WOLF of Hackers Creek, of John MCCALLY and of Nicholas CARPENTER.

My 6th great grandfather, John WINGROVE, applied for Revolutionary War Pension in 1833 from Lewis County, VA. He was among the first settlers of French Creek. He moved from Loudoun County, VA to Lewis after the 1810 Census and before the 1820 census. (Small world department: I live in LOUDOUN County now. I Moved here in 1963. Found out about John 3 years ago!! Made my spine tingle.)

I recently went to the DAR Library in DC and copied as much of his Patriot file as allowed.

AUTHENTIC WEST VIRGINIA RECIPES

I Hope by now you are all enjoying the recipes we are providing you. Along with a little humor to go. I thought it would be fun to do something a little different to the journal and add a splash of culture to it. And, what better way than to start with food. We all know how great home cooked food is in West Virginia and how important it is for families to sit down to the table and enjoy good food and company, so each journal I will feature a couple of recipes that originate from West Virginia. You can try them and let us know how they were, or just collect them. At any rate, I hope you will enjoy this section of the journal. If you would like to donate a few, please send them to me.

SCREAMIN' GREENS

2-4 different kinds of greens. Fresh is best for this.

Diced onion

Diced hot pepper-screamin' hot peppers or to your taste.

Crisp bacon diced or other fat or oil.

Salt and pepper to taste.

Cover and cook to your liking.

I also like hot peppers in my bean (white) soup sometimes instead of the onions.

Lillie O'Brien ARNOLD Dead.

When this sad news reached our midst, it cast a gloom over the entire town and community.

Mary Lillian O'BRIEN was born in the year 1865, and was the daughter of the late Co. Emmet J. O'BRIEN, and his widow, Martha HALL O'BRIEN. Also a sister of Capt. D. U. O'BRIEN, of this place, and attorney W.S. O'BRIAN of Buckhannon, and the late Lieut. Alonzo L. O'BRIEN.

In early womanhood she became the wife of Hon. Wm. M. ARNOLD, well known in this county and throughout the state. To this union were born seven children, of whom six are still living, one daughter and five sons, the youngest eight months old.

After living in this county for several years they moved to Roane County. It was here that she succumbed to that dread disease typhoid fever. It was hoped for a while that the crisis was passed but without warning, alarming symptoms developed; and all that faithful nurses and untiring physicians could do, was of no avail, and the sorrowing husband and children were left alone with their irreparable loss. Sorrowfully, friends conveyed this message to the fond and aged mother.

Lillie O'Brien ARNOLD was one of the noblest of noble women, Her loyalty in duty to her husband.

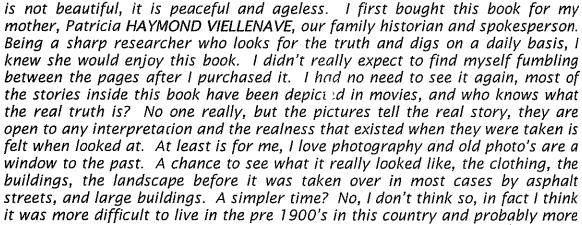

Editor's Note: Mrs. Arnold died at her home on Staats Run, Roane County, 27 Nov 1909. She married William Arnold on Cedar Creek, Gilmer Co, 10 Sept 1891. Her children: Charley E., William M., Jr., Mary Anne, Parker D., Thomas H., and Alonzo Lee. She was buried beside her mother-in-law at Spencer cemetery.

Looking to the past

By: Sharon L. VIELLENAVE

Sitting here at my computer I'm grazing through a handful of history books that sit usually on the sturdy wood piece in my mother's living room. Looking for interesting bits and pieces of information to place into the pages of this journal I settle into "A Pictorial History of the Civil War Years", by Paul M. ANGLE, published first in 1967 and again in 1980 by Nelson Doubleday, Inc.

Most of the photos' and drawing are in black and white which adds to the beauty captured in them. Although death so in the remote areas of West Virginia. The terrain is rough and difficult to really maneuver well in, and some know better than others when it rains the mud can be a real challenge. Imagine 1860, trying to do the outside chores in the cold, snowy, and muddy weather. Imagine even worse the soldiers who fought in the Civil War, they didn't have the luxury of a nice tent, a bed off the ground, food at every meal, clean water to keep clean, or even a camp fire to stay warm by. I often wonder how they survived. Determination not to loose? Fear of the unknown? We can only guess what really went through their minds out there. Often the dead were considered a harvest by the opposing side. What a thought, they went to war to defend what they believed in and ended up in a harvest of death.

I wanted to share the past in a way some may not look at it. Death is a part of our past, present, and future. America has been in a war since her discovery, and today we are in a war within and beyond our boarders. How can we appreciate the death of our forefathers who fought with pride and dignity to preserve a way of life, or an area of land to call their own. Why did some fight?

How many died and never were remembered? In looking at the photo's of this book I had to think when they show photo's of the dead in the battle field, who are those men and who's father, husband, brother, son's are they? Mass graves were built to burry these men, and to think we don't know why they are, or do we? Is there a way to pay tribute to these fallen soldiers? I know we have the fourth of July, but that wasn't for them, it was for the living. Memorial Day? That wasn't for them either, it was for World War I & II. So, it's too late to say thank you to them, but it's not too late to thank our troops in combat at this moment for fighting to keep our safety in check. Don't look at the photos and say how gross to see dead men, look at the photo and realize what they died for, and who they died for.

I hope I have opened a new door for some to look through and see maybe a different perspective to our history. When we research our roots we never know what feelings we will evoke inside ourselves, how we will feel when we discover that first illegitimate child, or maybe a convict or even the man who fought for the other side. War is in our past and our present, preserving the truth is important and passing along to our future generations the truth is just as important.

MEMORIES

By Addie HICKMAN, 2001. In her own words.

I remember so well going to school and the big snow-drifts we had as a child. I had two miles of country roads to walk to school. My dad said I would keep much warmer walking than riding and of course riding in those days would not be in a car! The last one-half mile to the little country two-room school was a lane-like road fenced in on both sides. That road would drift full from fence to fence so it was much easier walking to walk in the fields following the fence down to the school house. Sometimes then the snow would be so deep where I would walk that if you broke through you went over your over shoe tops! And had to struggle to get out to go on. Many a time I froze my hands and face going to school and had to sit the biggest part of the morning packed in snow thawing them out. My hands and fingers for years would swell when handling anything cold. For example a bottle of pop start them off to swelling. It wasn't that my mother didn't dress me because she did and very warmly. The scarf was wrapped around my stocking cap and face and tied in a knot behind my head. Only my eyes would be uncovered. But even at that the cold got to my cheeks. And somehow the mittens didn't keep my hands and fingers from freezing.

Those may have been cold days but they were very happy days for me! God Bless you each one and yours as well. Addie here!

HARMAN BLENNERHASSETT 1764-1831

From The West Virginia Review, April 1935

PART I

At the time when penetrating the fastness wilderness there was born who was to play a settlement of the Ohio was Harman date of his birth was Though he began his life parents was at Castle while they were sojourning the first pioneers were of the western Virginia in Hampshire, England, a boy dramatic part in the Valley. The name of the boy BLENNERHASSETT, and the October 8, 1764 or 1765. in England, the home of his Conway, Ireland, and it was in Hampshire that the child Harman was born. He was the youngest of the boys in a large family.

At an early age Harman was placed in a preparatory school at the Westminister, England. When his course was finished his father transferred him to Trinity College, Dublin, where he took up advanced studies. Trinity was recommended as the best school in Ireland; therefore, the lad did not lack for a thorough training. In due time he was graduated with honors.

Up to this time he had not decided on a profession. Beyond any question, however, he had given this matter much serious thought. Sons of many Irish noblemen and commoners were employed in the courts of their country. Peers and commoners had relations among the numbers of the legal fraternity, and those who succeeded in their work had no trouble in securing an honorable promotion. This profession, therefore, was one leading to a position in the cabinet, election to parliament, and perhaps to fortune in the foreign field of service of the country. "Such honors stamped the profession with a quality of dignity and intellectual association that could scarcely be found any place else." Harman BLENNERHASSETT, therefore, resolved to master the details of the science of the law.

In order to acquire thorough training, Harman entered the King's Inn as an apprentice. At the Michaelmas term of Court, 1790, he was admitted to the Irish Bar with the title of barrister.

Conditions over which one has no control sometimes change the best laid plans. This was the case in the life of Harman BLENNERHASSETT. About the time he was to begin a professional life hi older brother died, and the entire family estate was inherited by the young lawyer. The property was worth several thousand pounds. The dreams of orating before the court soon faded from his mind. His fortune was made.

The hope for independence from England for many years had animated the hearts of the Irish people. They felt oppressed under the arbitrary will of the king and the landlords. Though the soil was fertile, climate agreeable, and people intelligent, there was little chance to live a happy life in downtrodden Ireland. The Ugly feeling of feuds and factions pervaded the very atmosphere. But Harman BLENNERHASSETT chose not to take part in the struggle. He would flee from the torment of the mob and the clamor of arms.

In the meantime, his father had died, leaving him heir to a large fortune. It was at this time that young BLENNERHASSETT decided to embark to the United States. As hastily as possible, he closed his business affairs at home an proceeded to Kinsale, a seaport in the county of Cork. Tarrying there only a short time he continued to London to complete his arrangements for the trip across the Atlantic.

While sojourning in London he frequently met Margaret AGNEW, daughter of the lieutenant-governor of the Isle of Man. Their acquaintance soon ripened into an affectionate friendship. He revealed to the intelligent and beautiful girl his plans to embark for the far-off land in the Western World. To his fascinating story she listened with a romantic interest, and was soon captivated by his fanciful dream. So they were married and resolved to share together the trip to America – a land free from the oppressions from the lords of Europe. Here they would come to a new, free country, possess land, and build a home where deceit and treachery could not reach. Knowledge and gold he had already acquired, and beyond the western sea, BLENNERHASETTS'S learned mind would study in peace. Having purchased a library of rare books and a collection of scientific apparatus in London, they set sail from Gravesend, England, and arrived in New York, August 1, 1796.

At that time the Ohio Valley was being taken up by immigrant settlers. Agents from the West were in New York for the purpose of inducing people to migrate to Ohio, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The newspapers contained glowing accounts of the mild climate, fertile soil and easy prospects of making a living in that region. As a result of these inducements each day immigrants were leaving the East, bound for the fertile plains along the beautiful river in the West. The BLENNERHASSETTS were charmed with the story and attracted by the movement of settlers to the cheap, fertile lands beyond the Alleghenies. And it was in this delightful region that they finally decided to establish their new home in America.

From New York they traveled to Philadelphia. They departed from the city on the Delaware in a creaking stagecoach and traveled the great road which led by way of Carlile, Bedford, thence across the rugged Alleghenies to Pittsburgh. At Pittsburgh they secured passage on a keel boat, the most comfortable manner of travel then, down the current of the quiet Ohio to Marietta.

Mariettq was a village that presented a cheerful sign of a growing civilization. Only eight years before (1788) it had been settled by a colony of

New England immigrants who had left the sandy soil of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and Connecticut to find new homes on the border of the prairies. Many of these hardy settlers had fought through the Revolutionary War; they were unusually intelligent, well-educated, and possessed a noble sense of honor and loyalty - a society of men tried and found true.

The BLENNERHASSETTS spent an enjoyable winter in Marietta. They were interested in selecting a site for their home. During the winter the whole region was surveyed with the most meditative scrutiny. Several commanding places were favored. The one affording the greatest attraction, however, was the beautiful island surrounded by the waters of the blue river. Therefore, the northern portion of the island, containing one hundred seventy acres, was purchased by Harman BLENNERHASSETT in the spring of 1798. the purchase price was four thousand five hundred dollars.

It happened that the location chosen for their home was about twentyfour miles down the river from Marietta. Could a person in pursuit of seclusion and repose have found a place more desirable?

Expense and care were not spared in the building of the home. It was the excel in grandeur any other residence west of the Alleghenies. As the walls took form, visitors were filled with wonder at the structure that, perhaps, was fashioned after the home of some lordly person in far-off Ireland.

When completed, the snow-white mansion stood two stories high on the summit of the island. Either side was flanked with wings only half as high as the main structure, shaped in a concave fashion thus forming a crescent.

Along the river there were settling an intelligent and enterprising people. Hardy and wise frontiersmen, who had braved the rigors of the mountain pass, had come to the valleys of the West in order to find a better place in which to live. Some of them were battle-scarred veterans who had survived the Indian Wars and the Revolution.

In the evening of their lives they had searched for, and found, a place to live and rear their children, a place wherein they could realize more abundantly from their toil.

Like a star lighting the way to the West, the BLENNERHASSETT home was the center of attraction. Emigrants coming down the river, wondered at its beauty. The residents, thereabout, from New England and Virginia, often gathered at the mansion in the wilderness for the purpose of enjoying an evening in good fellowship. Harman BLENNERHASSETT esteemed the society of his neighbors among whom could be found, ministers, teachers, physicians, and warriors.

It seemed as if this enjoyment would continue, at least, for many years. Two children, Dominick and Harman, had been added to the happy home. Good health and elegance graced the place as the owners went about their daily occupation with happy industry and cheerfulness.

Harman BLENNERHASSETT was about six feet in stature. His form was slender and inclined to be slightly stooping. His high forehead, his nose, somewhat of the aquiline type, and his pleasing countenance, gave him an expression of marked intelligence.

Those who conversed with this distinguished man have written that in disposition he was somewhat retiring. Some have stated that his manner was void of a suave and easy grace that captivates strangers and lends an ease to visitors. In life, therefore, he was disposed to be of the quiet and studious type rather than the gay and trivial. It is evident that he was more attached to the study of chemistry, music, astronomy, and electricity than to sports and society. Friends, visiting the BLENNERHASSETTS, were more often entertained by the observation of the planets through a telescope, than in the chase or the ballroom. Many happy hours were spent rendering music of his own authorship on his violin and violoncello.

It is strange to note the nervous disposition of this unusual character. Many imaginary orgies haunted his restless soul. To him the wind, rushing through the great forest, was a threat of disaster. Earthquakes, though not occurring in the Ohio Valley, were a heavy dread on his imagination. The lightning and thunder filled him with a terrible fear.

No such eccentric features marked the life of his charming companion. In form she was somewhat taller than the average of her sex. Her dark-blue eyes, shaded by long, brown lashes, beamed with intelligence and affection.

Mrs. BLENNERHASSETT was also blessed with learning and refinement. The French and Italian languages she wrote and spoke with ease. The published works of the noted authors had an ample place in the library of her home. Shakespeare was a favorite. A fondness for dramatics induced the mistress of the mansion to study and rehearse the plays of the great English playwright. Her power of literary originality was not altogether lacking. She claimed the authorship of several original poems that gained wide recognition. Perhaps the one most noted worthy was The Widow of the Rock, written in her later life at a time when good fortune had vanished and blighted hopes thickened around her. It was during the same period that The Deserted Isle came from her mournful pen, "like a mournful echo, from the silent tomb."

Eight years the BLENNERHASSETTS had passed on the island with a fullness which was all that their youthful fancy could be expected. The future seemed as bright as the present was filled with pleasure, each returning season bringing renewed happiness.

In the spring of 1805, an uncommon number of boats, bearing settlers to the more distant West, were seen sailing down the river. One of these boats came to anchor at the island's landing. On board was Aaron BURR former vice president of the United States, who came on land and continued to the home. Of course, his expectation was to confer with the owner of the plantation. It happened, however, that at this time the BLENNERHASSETTS were away visiting in the East.

Perhaps a full understanding of BURR's motives will never be known, but those who stop to inquire do know that he was the evil influence that destroyed the home of Harman BLENNERHASSETT. He was traveling on an ill-designed journey to the West. As well as can be ascertained, Burr's object was to acquire knowledge of popular sentiment with respect to the separation of the western states from the East. If the settlers along the Ohio and Mississippi were friendly disposed toward a measure of that kind, he would head the movement, lead an expedition of conquest against Mexico, and finally set up an independent government in the Mississippi Valley. But if the scheme failed, he would purchase an extensive estate in Louisiana territory and surround himself with a society of his own choosing. TO BE CONTINUED

RECENTLY ACQUIRED BOOK SHELF REVIEW

Submitted by Barbara PALMER

Due to tireless efforts of our Executive Directors to raise more money to purchase more books for our library visitors, and in addition to her regular job duties, HCPD has been fortunate enough to acquire two sets of reference books that will be of interest to nearly all of our members.

The first set, donated by a loyal friend and member of HCPD, is Genealogical Abstracts Of Revolutionary War Pension Files., abstracted by Virgil D. White. This is a massive four-volume set, with a total of 5,266 pages of names of Revolutionary War Pension receivers. This includes the soldier's name, as well as all family member names who benefited from each pension.

These volumes contain literally thousands of births, deaths, and marriages that predate 1800, in addition to many thousands more that predate 1830. Some of the files contain genealogical data that actually predates 1700. This monumental work was taken from the Revolutionary War Pension and Bounty Land Warrant Application Files located in the National Archives Microfilm Series, and represents over 11,000 man-hours of detailed work.

The genealogical data includes the names of every person related to the veteran, his wife or widow and their families. Although the data varies, many abstracts contain dates and places of births, marriages and deaths, names of previous and subsequent wives or husbands, as well as immigration data, places of residence and enlistments, including the dates and/or time frame, date and place of application for pension of both the veteran and widow, pension file numbers and Bounty Land Warrant applications, all of which are cross-referenced for entries under more than one spelling. Veteran enlistment data is also furnished, including status of service such as State Militia, Independent Unit, Volunteer Unit, and service in the Navy.

The fourth volume of this magnificent reference library is the index, which includes 399,096 entries, each of which is a full name index of every person shown in the abstracts.

This is one of our Library's finest collections of genealogical data acquired to date and obviously receives a five star rating in the opinion of this reviewer.

The second newly acquired reference books donated to HCPD, is the Index to War of 1812 Pension Files, also transcribed by Virgil D. White. This two volume revised set contains 2,110 pages total, and a cross-referenced index of 58,126 entries to the wives, widows and other family members as shown in the main index. The wives and widows are also indexed under their maiden names when available.

The entries include all of the data offered in the set previously described, and also includes any aliases used, names and maiden names of previous wife or wives and subsequent husbands, date and place of marriage, date and place of death of both the veteran and widow or wife, along with the names of county, state, and occasionally the city of residence. Claims made from foreign counties are also listed, as well as other miscellaneous information that could be extracted from the microfilmed records at the National Archives.

Some of the entries give the veteran's rank, and, most unusually, this reference work also lists the name of a person hiring another as a substitute for his military service.

This set also contains a tremendous amount of genealogical data, which will be quite valuable to our Library members and visitors. There is no hesitation in giving this reference set a five star rating as well.

ABOUT DAYS OF BIRTH

- · Richard Eppe ROBINSON, my personal site for just the descendants of my grandfather, Richard Eppe, who is our brick wall. This includes ROBINSON, RAPP, HINES, SIERS/SEARS descendants and others. My daughter Lisa GREGORY who lives in Manassas, VA started this site for us. It is used daily for messages and just to say "hello" to our family members and for reunion announcements, birthday & anniversary greetings, special announcements of immediate family members, illness of family, and updates on our loved ones who have melanoma cancer. Our large family has a history of this type of cancer and has taken part in a national study on Melanoma. One of my brothers lives in Union City, TN and one lives in Morganton, GA, a cousin in Camden-on-Gauley, Webster Co, WV, a cousin who lives in PA, two nieces in Ohio, a nephew in Korea, while the remainder of us live in central WV counties. On this site we share many photos and stories. We have added some relatives from different surnames that we have never yet met and some we have just met recently in areas close to us that we would never have found out about otherwise. This is the best type of site!
- Williams Family History site for my Williams family info from Braxton, Nicholas, & Webster Counties (which will be closed because we can now post that info to the appropriate county sites).
- * Tombstone site for Roane, Clay, Calhoun, & Braxton Counties where folks take pictures of tombstones and post them to the site. Administered by Charlene-Sampson RAMEL (email: molli2@myfamily.com). There are now over 2000 pictures posted on this site by different photographers. The purpose of the site is to gather as many death records of county residents for the named counties as possible. The picture of the person's tombstone, an obit, a death record, etc is linked together for easier viewing on the site. For those of us doing research in any of those counties, that site is a great find. These sites also have lookups by members and links to other genealogy sites. The administrator, person setting up or opening the site, can choose the options for running the site. Once the site gets bigger than the allotted amount of free storage space, the option is there for purchasing more. Of course, once the site has started, the family most certainly will want to continue it even if they do have to pay a little each year. For our ROBINSON family, it has been a major help in uniting the family.

Local Histories:

A PICTORIAL HISTORY OF OLD LEWIS COUNTY: THE CROSSROADS OF CENTRAL WEST VIRGINIA "Hardy, tenacious, fiercely independent, Indians, Scotch-Irish, Germans, "Stonewall" Jackson, General Lightburn, Freddie Wyant. Trans-Allegheny Asylum for the Insane, the Ice Cream Cone, the Bailey House. Oil and gas, coal, hand blown glass. All describe old Lewis County, the heart of Central West Virginia, where from 1769 to the present its citizens have been prosperity come and go, where today the community struggles to propel itself into the twenty-first century through tourism and recreation and the newly created Stonewall Jackson Lake." So begins the dust-jacket text of A Pictorial History of Old Lewis County: The Crossroads of Central West Virginia. This fully indexed, 224-page award-winning book contains more than 300 pictures and interesting descriptive prose of life in Lewis County. With very few exceptions, every person in every photograph is identified. Text from the photograph captions define the script of the book without being repetitive. Written under the auspices of the Hacker's Creek Pioneer Descendants by the late Charles H. Gilchrist and his wife, Joy L. Gregoire Gilchrist (now Stalnaker), the book is a "must read" for those with roots in Lewis County. Published by Donning Publishing Company, a subsidiary of Walsworth Publishing Company. Shipping on this book is $5. HC-7091. $52.50

LEWIS COUNTY, WEST VIRGINIA: HER PEOPLE AND PLACES Alphonse de Lamartine said, "History is neither more nor less than biography on a large scale." And so it is with the newly release companion to the above book. Lewis County, West Virginia: Her People and Places contains more than 600 true stories of Lewis County families, businesses, events, and places of yesterday and today written by people from Washington State to Florida and Maine to New Mexico, with a few from West Virginia thrown in for good measure. More than 500 photographs define the text and add color to this book, the colorful dust jacket of which features the beloved McWhorter cabin at Jackson's Mill. Edited by Joy L.

Gilchrist- Stalnaker with help from a cadre of volunteers across the country, this 256-page book is indexed. Published by Walsworth Publishing Company, the book is available from its sponsor, the Hacker's Creek Pioneer Descendants. HC-9001 $62.00

BORDER SETTLERS OF NORTHWESTERN VIRGINIA Written by Lucullus McWhorter and later annotated by Thwaites. McWhorter explored the lives and times of several families who lived along the western frontier during the last half of the seventeenth century with special emphasis on the French & Indian War, the Revolution, and border warfare. This book is a definite "must have" for anyone interested in pioneer life in northwestern Virginia (now West Virginia), Ohio, and Kentucky and should take its place alongside Wither's CHRONICLES OF BORDER WARFARE, Doddridge's NOTES ON THE SETTLEMENT AND INDIAN WARS, and DeHass' HISTORY OF THE EARLY SETTLMENT AND INDIAN WARS OF WEST VIRGINIA. ONE OF THE BIG FOUR, Indexed, HC-7525 $16.95

LEWIS COUNTY, WV, IN THE CIVIL WAR Written by Roy Bird Cook, 1924, and edited by West Virginia historian Boyd Stutler, this books explores the military operations around and about Lewis County as well as those who served from the county on both sides during the Great Conflict. "The significance of the operations in lewis and adjoining counteis cannot be measured by the number of troops engaged in holding the section, or by the fact that no great battle was fought within the sector. . .," said Stutler. Weston was the gateway to all points in the interior of what would become, as a result of the war, West Virginia. Contains listings of Lewis Countians who served on both sides. Indexed. Soft bound. Reprinted 2000 from manuscript retyped by Cindy Ethier-Kostka. HC-7042 $15.00

HC-7950-LW - LOYAL WEST VIRGINIA 1861-1965 The best testimony to an act, wrote Theodore F. Lang three decades after the Civil War, is the testimony of one who saw the act done. For more than three years Lang, a native of Clarksburg in divided Harrison County, was immersed in the tumultuous events of 1861-1865 that forged West Virginia's creation as America's 35th state midway through the war. In this book Lang describes events and personalities responsible for West Virginia's formation and pays particular attention to military operations involving West Virginia and its soldiers who remained loyal to the Union. Contains histories of every West Virginia military organization with complete officer rosters and 63 photographs. Indexed. Hardbound. 386 pages. HC-7950-LW $35.00

WAR VETERANS OF UPSHUR COUNTY This collection of WWII veterans from Upshur County was compiled by Nathaniel Jack in cooperation with the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3663. Does not necessarily contain all veterans from the county. Many photographs. 170 pages. Hardbound. Limited quantity. HC-7141 $10.00

WEST VIRGINIA CIVIL WAR ALMANAC, Volume 1 The first of three projected books being compiled and written by Tim McKinney, this volume is a must for the researcher interested in the Civil War ancestors from present-day West Virginia. McKinney used numerous resources in his compilation: 1890 Civil War Veteran Census, the 1890 Confederate Index; Civil War medals of Union veterans (many remain unclaimed in Charleston today); compilation of WV Confederate soldiers and citizens who died in Federal prisons or military hospitals; an index to records of the Southern Claims Commission; and more! Hardbound. HC-7950-CWA1 $29.95

WEST VIRGINIA CIVIL WAR ALMANAC, Volume 2 Like Volume I of this trilogy, this book adds significantly information in print about West(em) Virginia's Civil War soldiers. It consists of nine parts. Part One provides a roster of 31,519 Union soldiers from West Virginia. Part Two is an index to 12,683 Union veterans listed in the 1890 Civil War Veteran Census and published in volume one of this series. Part Three lists Civil War veterans and their widows; Part Four contains the names of deceased United States veterans in the 1890 Census, while Part Five provides names of deceased Confederate veterans, and Part Six indexes black troops credited to West Virginia. Part Seven focuses on distribution of the state's Civil War veterans with respect to their counties of residence. Part Eight gives a Statistical Review of the 1890 Civil War Veteran Census of West Virginia. The Nine, and final part, includes Addenda to Volume One. Hardbound. HC-7950-CWA2 $35.00

IMAGES OF THE CIVIL WAR IN WEST VIRGINIA Authors Terry Lowry and Stan Cohen share a mutual love of the visual image of the Civil War, in both photographs and artwork. In this book Lowry and Cohen have produced an important, comprehensive compilation of historic images depicting West Virginia during the War Between the States. Images of the Civil War contains both never-before-published photographs as well as images that have been published, in such period magazines as Harper's Weekly and The New York Illustrated News. Because of the large number of images available, the authors decided to limit the focus of the book to photographs and drawings created from 1860 to 1865. An exception to this are the post-Civil War portraits of men who fought in the war, found in the chapter Carrying on the Memories. These are the most poignant and telling photographs in the book. Looking at the faces of these brave and aging men, you remember that their lives were forever altered by the bloody chapter that tore this nation apart. 206 pages, 450 photos, images, broadsides, etc., soft cover HC-7950-CWI $17.95

THE CIVIL WAR IN WEST VIRGINIA: A Pictorial History by Stan Cohen. This classic of these tough times in West Virginia is a must for the Civil War enthusiast of the Mountain State. 250 photos, 24 maps, 160 pages. Paperback. HC-7950-PCW $12.95

THE FLYING, GRAY-HAIRED YANK: Michael Egan, Late Captain Co B, 15th West Virginia InfantryVolunteers by Michael Egan, Introduction by David Phillips. Reprint of the 1888 edition. Michael Egan wrote The Flying Gray-Haired Yank long after he completed serving his adopted country, the United States, in the Civil War. Unfortunately, he died in 1888 – the year his book was published — and he did not see it in its completed form. 424 pages. Hardcover. HC-7950-ME $30.00

WEST VIRGINIA CIVIL WAR SITES: A PICTORIAL GUIDE TO WEST VIRGINIA'S CIVIL WAR SITES by Stan Cohen. Over 230 sites connected in some way with the Civil War in West Virginia are included in this volume. They range from historic houses and buildings to battlefields and cemeteries, and portray a conflict that was instrumental in the formation of the state in 1863. Most of the sites are accompanied by a contemporary photograph with directions to the site and in some instances, a historic photograph or drawing. This guidebook should be a valuable tool for a better understanding of events that shaped West Virginia's history in the momentous years of our nation's greatest conflict - The Civil War. 132 pages, over 400 photos, maps, drawings, soft cover. HC-7950-CWS $9.95
